DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Seecamp (US Patent # 3,722,358) in view of Tuma (US Patent # 5,216,195). Seecamp discloses the claimed improvement in a double action hammer trigger mechanism for a firearm of a known type, the improvement being characterized by a single action let-off pin disposed on the sear, the transfer bar including a first finger cooperating with a surface when the slide is in a forward, the transfer bar including a second finger arranged to engage the single action let-off pin and pivot the sear when the trigger is pulled so as to release the hammer when the sear is holding the hammer cocked, the transfer bar first finger being arranged to cooperate with the slide cam surface to move the transfer bar notch away from the double action let-off pin to release the hammer when the trigger is pulled further to a double action let-off position when the sear is not holding the hammer cocked. The transfer bar has its first end pivotably mounted on the trigger pivot pin and extends in a rearward direction beneath the slide, wherein the first finger extends laterally therefrom into engagement with the cam surface on the slide, the second finger being spaced from the first finger to receive the single action let-off pin therebetween. The transfer bar notch shaped to hold the double action let-off pin therein to move the hammer toward a cocked position as the trigger is pulled. The transfer bar extends alongside the sear and the single action let-off pin comprises a pin disposed on the sear. The transfer bar extends alongside the hammer and the double action let-off pin comprises a pin disposed on the hammer. Although Seecamp does not expressly disclose the slide having a cam for interaction with the transfer bar, Tuma does. Tuma teaches a known firearm wherein the slide has a cam for interaction with the transfer bar to disengage the transfer bar when the slide is not in the proper position. Tuma and Seecamp are analogous art because they are from the same field of endeavor: slide handguns. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the slide having a cam interacting with the transfer bar as suggested by Tuma with the double action transfer bar improvement as taught by Seecamp. The suggestion/motivation would be to obtain a safer handgun that would not accidentally fire.
